

Several new laws effective in state

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Several new laws designed to protect the consumer and a bill extending full majority rights to 18-year-olds take effect today.

Beginning today, persons aged 18 or over can make loans, grant loans, sue and be sued, enter into contracts, serve on juries and do just about everything that adults can—except buy and possess alcoholic beverages.

Over 100 new laws, approved in the 1974 legislative session, go into effect today.

Some, such as a new law regulating abortions, already are in effect because of emergency clauses. Others, such as repeal of the personal property tax on household goods, won't take effect until 1975.

Some others, such as increased aid to junior colleges and aid to dependent children, were vetoed and will be considered in a 10-day veto session beginning Sept. 4.

Also going into effect in June, because of an emergency clause, was a bill saying that a sales tax does not have to be paid on finance charges. The bill also exempts from the sales tax all sales made to private institutions of higher education.

Gov. Christopher S. Bond vetoed 18 bills. During the 1974 session, 138 bills were passed. Bond also vetoed 6.2 million from nearly $1 billion in state funds to be spent in the current fiscal year. Federal and other sources made up the rest of the state's $2 billion budget.

The law giving full adult rights to 18-year-olds has been threatened with suits from people who do not want 18-year-olds to serve on juries and who question whether fathers will now be required to provide child support for children over 18. Many 18-year-olds are still in high school.

In other states where laws were passed lowering the age for adult privileges, courts have held that child support can continue beyond the age of 18 if child support already has been granted.

Legislators say judges can still exercise discretion in awarding child support.

One law in a strong consumer-interest package repeals the holder-in-due course doctrine whereby a contract for a health spa, for example, was sold to a bank and the consumer had to continue making payments to the bank after the health spa went out of business.

Under the new law, a consumer has 90 days in which to cancel the contract and the financial institution would be responsible for making good on the contract.

The mechanics lien law also was revised so that contractors must give a customer notice that he or she has a right to request a lien waiver to protect themselves against the possibilities the

Ford is pressing on economic matters

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is moving swiftly to plan an economic summit conference to battle inflation which he labeled "Domestic Enemy No. 1." And he is pressing Congress to act within 10 days to revive the government's tools to monitor wages and prices.

Key congressional Democrats moved quickly today to fulfill Ford's request to reactivate the Cost of Living Council to monitor wages and prices.

But they pointedly were not predicting that either the proposed summit or the renewed wage-price monitoring would bring a quick end to inflation.

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee said a bill to reactivate the Cost of Living Council will be introduced promptly and considered by the committee on Wednesday.

House Speaker Carl Albert said he plans to meet with Senate leaders to discuss expediting the legislation.

Congressional Democrats joined Republicans in applauding the tone of Ford's presidential keynote speech Monday night. But some said they will have to be convinced the new President can find the correct cure for the nation's soaring prices.

Ford spoke to a packed House chamber and millions across the country, calling on Congress to join "in getting this country revved up and moving" and pledging to seek a balanced federal budget in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

He never referred directly to the Watergate scandal that drove Richard M. Nixon from the presidency last week but pledged, "There will be no illegal tapings, eavesdroppings, buggings or break-ins by my administration."

And Ford mentioned his predecessor's name only once, declaring he has supported and will continue "the outstanding foreign policy of President Nixon."

He made no mention of perhaps his most immediate problem — the choice of a new vice president. Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said earlier Monday Ford is "nowhere near" making a decision.

As he emerged from his house in suburban Alexandria, Va., this morning, Ford was asked if he has chosen a vice president.

"No, no, one thing at a time," he said with a laugh.

At the invitation of the Fords, the former president's daughter, Julie Nixon Eisenhower, and her husband David joined the new First Family in the Executive Gallery. The former President watched at his San Clemente, Calif., home and wired Ford: "Congratulations on a Splendid Speech."

Cyprus meeting canceled

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — A scheduled meeting to discuss a Turkish compromise on Cyprus' political future was canceled today. Turkey said the impasse is critical, called home its envoy to Athens for consultations, and said its troops on Cyprus "now are strong enough to occupy the entire island."

"We only ask for our rights. We are determined to get them," Turkey's Interior minister, Oguzhan Asilturk, declared in Ankara.

Glafcos Clerides, Greek Cypriot president of Cyprus, told reporters there might be a meeting Wednesday. Official Greek sources said British Foreign Minister James Callaghan had proposed a 48-hour recess and that this had been accepted by Greece.

Turkish Foreign Minister Turan Gunes told reporters upon leaving the Geneva United Nations headquarters, "I don't think I will come back."

In Ankara, Turkish Premier Bulent Ecevit met with his chief of staff and said afterward his government expected a positive or negative answer to its proposals for a Cyprus solution by midnight. "Afterwards we will decide whether to continue with the conference," he said.

In Athens, diplomatic sources reported U.S. Ambassador Henry Tasca delivered an urgent message to Premier Constantine Caramanlis from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

They gave no details, but there was speculation the message was concerned with the Cyprus peace negotiations in Geneva.

The Greek Cypriots had planned to present a new proposal to the Geneva conference today for the political reorganization of their island after rejecting a Turkish demand for six autonomous regions for the Turkish Cypriots.

Details of the Greek counterproposal were not immediately available. But Turkish Foreign Minister Turan Gunes said his government would not be satisfied with a bland declaration of good will. He asserted that the Turkish proposal which the Greek Cypriots turned down would have been a "big concession" for the Turkish Cypriots.

Turkish sources said Gunes proposed a patchwork of six autonomous cantons for the island's 120,000 Turkish Cypriots.

Clean-up, repairs to grounds: $46,954

The cost of cleaning up and repairing the State Fairgrounds following the Ozark Music Festival presently stands at $46,954. Agriculture Director James Boillot reported Tuesday.

A figure of $29,399 given by Boillot Monday apparently referred only to repair costs. Some repair bills are still outstanding.

At a press conference in Jefferson City Tuesday, Boillot said the Fairgrounds are in "excellent shape" for the State Fair, which opens Friday. He said he was hoping for a 3 per cent increase in attendance this year.

The state must pay for the clean-up costs incurred from the rock festival, while the festival sponsors are responsible for damages, according to the terms of the contract.

Musical Productions Inc. (MPI), which staged the rock festival, rented the Fairgrounds for $40,000. This would give the state a profit of $22,445 after subtracting the clean-up costs. Other state expenses related to the festival, such as the costs of additional highway patrol personnel sent to Sedalia for the three-day event, have not been reported to date.

Neither State Revenue Director James Spradling nor a spokesman for MPI would comment Tuesday on gate receipts from the festival, which have been a point of some dispute. MPI earlier claimed that only 50,000 people paid admission to get into the festival, although more than 100,000 were actually present.

Missouri will exact a 3 per cent sales tax from MPI and concessionaires at the Ozark Festival, and the city of Sedalia a one per cent tax.

Spradling said Tuesday that sales tax information is confidential. Leigh Kimball, public relations director for the Ozark Festival, said MPI would have no comment on gate receipts until after a special Senate committee investigating the festival meets Aug. 30 in Kansas City. At that time MPI officers will testify.

UMW planning work stoppage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Mine Workers union has called a work stoppage expected to close about 1,200 softcoal mines next week and lower the nation's stockpiles of coal.

UMW President Arnold Miller said Monday the shutdown will "commemorate the thousands of coal miners killed while working in the nation's mines, all the miners whose lives have been ravaged by black lung disease, and coal mining families who are victims of company violence designed to prevent them from winning protection of a United Mine Workers contract."

The shutdown, scheduled to start Monday and extend through the work week, will coincide with the planned opening of negotiations on a new nationwide UMW contract. The present contract expires Nov. 12.

The memorial period was called under a section of the UMW's contract with coal operators that allows memorial periods of up to 10 days duration at any union mine.

A coal industry spokesman, who declined to be identified, said, "This is a pretty bad time for a shutdown to take place. It's an out-and-out attempt to further dwindle coal stockpiles to put the union in a better bargaining position."

"The steel industry will be the first to feel this," he said.

Federal Energy Administrator John C. Sawhill deplored the planned shutdown, saying it is "very much in the national interest to maintain our present coal production."

Sawhill said the memorial period will cost the nation 8 million tons of "badly needed" coal.

The heavy users of coal, such as U.S. Steel, had no immediate comment.

Coal-burning electric utilities and steel mills try to keep large stockpiles of coal on hand so they can absorb the impact of mine strikes.

62 bushels per acre

Smallest corn harvest since 1964 predicted

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — While federal officials have announced the nation's corn harvest this year is expected to be the smallest since 1970, Missouri farmers, plagued by drought through most of the summer, have been told their corn harvest will be the smallest since 1964.

The Missouri Crop Reporting Service, making its first prediction of the season Monday shortly after the announcement in Washington, said the corn crop in Missouri is expected to yield only 62 bushels an acre for a stateside harvest of 170.5 million bushels.

"It's hard to say that it's all due to the drought," said Donald W. Barrowman of the service. "But the drought is the single most important factor."

Last year the state recorded a yield of 88 bushels an acre and a total harvest of 228.8 million bushels while in 1964 the yield had dropped to 53 bushels an acre and 154.3 million bushels over-all.

Although experts agree the drought will bring significant economic losses to Missouri farmers, they declined to estimate the amount of loss.

"That's pretty much an imponderable because in the first place you can't really identify how much is lost because of the drought and how much is due to other factors like fertilizer shortage," he said.

Although most of the state experienced significant rainfall in the last few days, the first in weeks, William Murphy, state extension agent for field crops at the University of Missouri, would say only that the drought is "temporarily over."

"The rain in Missouri will carry us over the next few weeks," Murphy said.

Nation's corn crop down drought has been overestimated." He said it was serious, but noted that the wheat crop—harvested earlier—was better than last year's.

Lyng and other experts said it was hard to tell just what impact the lack of corn would have on food prices. Most agreed that over the long run, the consumer can expect to pay more for meat and milk.

Last year's corn harvest was about 5.6 billion bushels. Early this spring, the Agriculture Department predicted a 1974 harvest of 6.4 billion bushels. That was lowered to an estimate of between 5.95 and 6.35 billion bushels.

Monday, the department said its best guess was that farmers would harvest 4.97 billion bushels—down 12 per cent from last year.

Rains that fell over the Midwest last weekend, too late to affect the current crop report, helped the later-harvested soybean crop. But much of the corn already was destroyed.

Gov. J. James Exon of Nebraska, where officials say the drought already has cost the state economy $2 billion, said the smaller harvests undoubtedly would push up food prices next year.

Glenn Kreuscher, Nebraska's secretary of agriculture, said the smaller harvest would mean higher corn prices and higher beef production costs. He said "livestock prices better go up pretty fast" or farmers will be forced to cut production. That could bring a beef shortage, and still higher supermarket prices, he said.

University of Missouri agriculture expert William Murphy agreed:

"I can see high corn prices, a shortage of corn, a limit on exports a bit and less livestock bred because of this."

Progress on inflation is object of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has made clear it welcomes a honeymoon with President Ford. But many members say that even though they like his style, the marriage may be rocky unless progress is made in fighting inflation.

Ford's two new economic initiatives—contractor will fail to pay for labor and supplies.

In the past, a contractor could pave a driveway, for example, and the consumer would be billed for the cement without knowing beforehand that he would be liable for payment.

Another new law will outlaw pyramid sales schemes whereby a person is inducted to invest money, part of which the original investors keep.

It now will be illegal for a store to deny a credit card to a woman.

Pay increases were approved for numerous county officials, highway patrolmen and members of the state Public Service Commission. Eight pay raise bills for elected officials in St. Louis and their employees, and pay increases for judges, were vetoed.

A revision of the workmen's compensation laws also goes into effect. The law raises the maximum weekly compensation from $70 to $95 a person.

A sweeping plan to give aid to public hospitals and to set up a program to improve maternal health care goes into effect, but it has not been funded.

Hospitals could qualify for state aid up to one-tenth of the local hospital taxing effort.

Resorts anywhere in the state now can get licenses to sell liquor by the drink. The privilege had been restricted to resorts on the Lake of the Ozarks and Table Rock Lake. The new law is not designed to interfere with local option licensing of smaller establishments.

A resort is defined as an establishment with 40 rooms with a restaurant getting at least 60 per cent of its income from food services; or a restaurant, without lodging, which has produced gross food sales of $100,000 annually in the previous two years.

A new law also allows excursion boats on the Mississippi River to sell liquor by the drink.

Nixon congratulates Ford on his address

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon described President Ford's address to Congress as "a splendid speech" and has sent a telegram of congratulations, a Nixon aide says.

Nixon's reaction came on Monday night after he viewed Ford's speech, which contained implied criticism as well as praise for the abruptly ended Nixon administration.

An aide said that as soon as the speech ended, Nixon sent his "congratulations on a splendid speech" to the new President. The aide refused to release the text of the telegram.

Nixon watched the speech on television at his San Clemente estate with his wife, Pat, and daughter and son-in-law, Tricia and Edward Cox, shortly after returning from an afternoon outing that has become routine in the first days of his new private life.

Hearing delayed in assault case

A preliminary hearing for Walter C. Prohaska, 33, Detroit, was continued Tuesday to Aug. 28 in Pettis County Magistrate Court.

Prohaska was arraigned July 22 following the Ozark Music Festival on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm after he allegedly struck, with an artificial arm, Kenneth Swinford of Sedalia.

Swinford was trying to enter the Fairgrounds through a hole in a fence when Prohaska reportedly struck him in the face with a hook attached to the arm.

Prohaska failed to appear in court Tuesday and his attorney, Craig Cassing, asked for the continuance.

Another man was found guilty Tuesday on a charge of possessing less than 35 grams of marijuana. Cecil Davis Sullens, Newport, Ark., pleaded guilty to the charge after Prosecuting Attorney Gary Fleming filed a petition with the court reducing the charge from possession of more than 35 grams to less than 35 grams.

Sullens was arrested after the Ozark Music Festival on July 22. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail and one year probation. The jail sentence was suspended.

Lower assessment is granted Davis

The Pettis County Board of Appeals Tuesday lowered the assessed valuation of property belonging to Saner Davis, Green Ridge, by $500 from $8,630 to $8,130.

The decision came after board members Judges John Bluhm Jr. and E.L. "Red" Birdsong and County Assessor Bill McCune inspected the property Tuesday morning.

Davis had appealed the original assessed valuation on the property at a meeting of the board Monday in the County Court room.

Police apprehend women escapees

Sedalia police apprehended two escapees from the Women's Correctional Center, Tipton, at 4:31 Monday in the 1900 block of East Broadway.

Police said they received notice from the Pettis County Sheriff's office that the two women, Barbara Hammond and Juanita Vitale, had escaped and were headed toward Sedalia on Highway 50.

Police spotted the two in a car driven by an unidentified man who said he had picked up the two hitchhiking. The man's identity was not known, a police spokesman said.

The two women were then taken to the city jail and later released to Dorothy Stoll, a state transportation officer, at 6:15 p.m.

Ann Landers

Letting child drive could be dangerous

Dear Ann Landers: I saw it again today and I promised myself I would not close my eyes tonight until I wrote this letter.

What did I see? A man driving down the highway with a small child on his lap. May I address my remarks to all fathers, uncles or friends who think they are giving the kid a thrill by "letting him drive." Here is my message:

Dear Maniac: The next time you inch by a couple of mangles pieces of steel that once were automobiles, just imagine what could have happened to that child on your lap if you two had been in one of those cars. Sign me. — Love Children.

Dear Friend: Thank you for a brief but mighty message. And now I'd like to tell my readers that there are some new, cleverly-designed car seats for young children who are too small for safety belts. Please check with your auto supply dealer today, folks. It could mean the difference between life and death to some precious child.

Dear Ann Landers: A girl recently wrote that her fiancé had decided to "clear the air and tell all." He confessed he had slept with about 40 girls before they met. She was shocked and dismayed by his confession and said, "I don't know if I should marry this man. Will I be forever haunted by those 40 faceless women?"

You told the young woman to accept the fact that her fiancé was an immature Casanova, trying to prove himself — and to forget it. You then suggested that she seek counseling if necessary to get it out of her system.

I'm wondering, Ann, whether you would have given the same advice to a young man who wrote to say his bride-to-be had confessed to sleeping with about 40 men before they met? Or would you have said, "Drop that cheap little slut. She will be nothing but trouble."

For too long women have been expected to be virgin brides, but men, well — "boys will be boys." It's time we acknowledged the fact that male promiscuity is just as disgusting and cheapening as female promiscuity and I wish you had said so.

I am not suggesting women be allowed the same sexual freedom that men have traditionally enjoyed in our phony puritanical society, but I do believe that women should stand up and voice their disgust with men who behave like alley cats or dogs on the street. I am for a SINGLE standard and it had better be a high one or there will be no standards at all — for anyone. Are you ready to eat your words, Ann Landers? — Plain Spoken

Dear P.S.: Gulp, gulp.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been engaged to Jim for nearly a year. He received an invitation to a wedding and the reception following the ceremony. The invitation was addressed to him only. I received no invitation. The groom is a very close friend of Jim's and knows we are engaged.

Should Jim go alone, not go at all, or call his friend and ask if he can bring me? Other couples were invited. — Feelings Hurt.

Dear Hurt: Considering some of the experiences I've had with the U. S. mails, I would not be at all surprised if your invitation was stuck in a chute somewhere.

Jim should phone his friend and let him know you received no invitation and it must have gone astray. If by chance you were not invited, it's up to Jim to decide what he wants to do. Don't attempt to influence him one way or the other.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Kansas City man is fatally wounded

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Raymond Jones, 28, Kansas City, suffered a fatal gunshot wound in the head late Monday night at his home, police said.

An investigator said it was a "domestic disturbance" and one man was taken into custody.

Jones' death was the city's 77th homicide of 1974. The 77th homicide in 1973 was on Nov. 17.

The Roman Colosseum was dedicated in the year 80 by Emperor Titus with a 100-day Roman holiday featuring gladiators battling each other and wild animals.

Bond called to conference in Washington

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond has been called to a Wednesday afternoon conference in Washington with President Ford and other members of the executive committee of the National Governors' Conference.

Bond will campaign today in Maine with the GOP gubernatorial candidate and will interrupt a vacation in Maine to meet with the President.

Bond's office was not told the nature of the meeting.

Bond's name was mentioned during the weekend by several senators and aides for Nelson Rockefeller in discussions about a possible vice presidential choice.

Bond says he prefers Rockefeller or Washington Gov. Daniel Evans and didn't think he was in serious consideration for the post.

Punishment enough in Nixon's eclipse

O! that I were as great
As is my grief, or lesser than my name.
Or that I could forget what I have been
Or not remember what I must be now.

— Richard II

One must turn to Shakespeare to grasp the momentousness of the ordeal the nation has just been through. While Gerald Ford's rise is the most important aspect of last week's events, it is Richard Nixon's fall that contains the stuff of tragedy.

For Nixon, the office of president of the United States was the crowning achievement of his nearly 30 years of public life. Correspondingly, his being drummed out of office less than halfway through his term—which he captured in one of history's great land slides—is the supreme humiliation.

A conservative view

Worst Bill of Year on consumer agency

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — The Senate continues debate on a measure that merits a splendid superlative title. It is the Worst Bill of the Ninety-Third Congress.

Kilpatrick

Admittedly, that takes in a considerable sweep; but the bill to create a Consumer Protection agency is not merely a bad bill. It is a monstrously bad bill. In the holy name of consumerism, one of the more fashionable religions of the day, the Congress is about to create a bureaucratic nightmare.

The sponsors and defenders of this bill make it sound so simple. Out of whole cloth they have fashioned a speechless dummy named "the consumer." This poor creature, it is said, has no one to defend his interests. Business and industry have highly paid lobbyists whose insidious talent is to manipulate the agencies set up for their own regulation. The consumer, by contrast, is an abandoned babe in a forest of wolves. The bill would create a new agency with authority to fight back on his behalf.

The theory rests on a false premise, that there is a such a thing as "the consumer." Under the definition contained in section 4 of this bill, every human being who uses or purchases any goods or services whatever is a consumer. But unless one assumes that all human beings have identical personal and economic interests, it is plain that no advocate possibly could serve all consumers alike.

Let us examine, if you please, the best interests of this hypothetical "consumer" in such areas as milk, lumber, textile products and shoes. Presumably, consumers have an interest in cheap milk; but the human beings in the dairy industry, who also are consumers, have an interest in higher milk prices. People who build houses want cheap lumber; people who produce lumber find that idea unappealing. The country is flooded with textiles imported inexpensively from the Far East, and doubtless this suits some consumers very well; but the consumer who works in a North Carolina mill has a different view.

Back in January of 1972, this correspondent happened to be covering the McGovern campaign in New Hampshire. The candidate stood in the snow outside a couple of shoe factories, shaking hands as the shifts changed. Repeatedly, he was asked one question: How did he stand on the importation of shoes from Italy? These men and women were consumers of shoes; they were also producers of shoes. How would a Consumer Protection Agency look after their interests?

The point is germane because of the question that some are asking: what do we do with Nixon now?

There are those who urge that he be prosecuted as a private citizen for various offenses associated with Watergate. Others say he has been through enough; let him finish out his political exile in peace.

It is our belief that the country has had a belly-full of Watergate. The President has been brought down and a new administration is in office, a new beginning made. Further action against the former president would appease mainly the hardcore Nixon-haters and those who hope to reap partisan advantage by keeping the corpse of Watergate around for future elections.

Because he's the kind of man he is, Richard Nixon has been punished enough for his actions. Let's get on with the crucial business facing the nation and leave Watergate to the historians.

The bill is a fraud. It defines the "interest of consumers" partly in terms of their "economic concern," which is to say, in terms of the price the consumer pays for goods and services. In the determination of such prices, no factor of cost is more important than the cost of labor. Yet labor is exempted from this bill.

The bill is administratively impossible. Under this legislation, the new agency would have some $20 million to spend on advocacy. It is a small sum, perhaps, in a $300 billion budget, but it is a large sum indeed in terms of lawyers, lobbying and litigation. Far from putting the "consumer" on an equal platform with business spokesmen, the authorized sum would make the administrator King of the Lobbyists, the fattest cat in town.

Our present system of consumer protection may not be perfect, but such old-line agencies as the courts, the Food and Drug Administration, and the Federal Trade Commission do a reasonable job, and such new agencies as the Consumer Products Safety Commission are coming on strong. A case for further bureaucracy cannot be made.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The bagpipe is a musical instrument which probably originated in Mesopotamia, The World Almanac says. The bagpipe in various forms was popular in most European countries, but its widest use has been in Scotland, England and Ireland. The bagpipe is mainly used for folk music, but during the 1700s it became popular in military march music.

The Sans Souci to continue

One of Gerald Ford's first acts as President was to ask Paul Delisle to stay on as maitre d' of the Sans Souci Restaurant. As most people know all the important government decisions are made at lunch time at the Sans Souci, and the President felt it was essential that in order to have an orderly transition of government no personnel changes should take place at the restaurant.

Buchwald

A White House aide told me, "We feel that Paul will serve us with the same loyalty that he served previous administrations. The whole world is watching what we do, and I can't think of a better way of instilling confidence than Paul remaining in this key post in government."

Many ambassadors who eat at the Sans Souci expressed delight at the news that the President asked Paul to stay on. "We don't know President Ford," one told me, "but we do know Paul and we can deal with him. I have already cabled my government that Mr. Delisle will keep his maitre d' post, and despite the changeover in government our country can still be assured of a table."

Lawyers and high officials of the media were also pleased that Paul would stay on. One leading pundit said, "In this grave hour of crisis the country needs continuity."

"By asking Paul to keep his position Mr. Ford is saying, 'No matter what happens America will survive.'"

As soon as the announcement was made I went over to see Paul to congratulate him on the appointment.

He read a statement. "I am proud and humble that the White House would ask me to remain in office. I promise to see that nothing but the prices will change at the Sans Souci. Despite the anguish of the past year and the shock that everyone has undergone, we must never forget government officials still have to eat. We have to forget the past and look to the future. The Sans Souci stands ready to face the challenge. I will now take questions."

"Paul, it seems to me your major problem is going to be to take care of President Ford's aides who work at the White House. How will you be able to do this?"

"It will be hard at first because I won't know who they are. Unless they make the reservation in the name of the White House, I may make a mistake and turn them away, but as time goes on I will know where the power is and adjust my reservation list accordingly."

"But can you handle all this new business?"

"I believe I can. Many of the former Nixon aides are no longer in Washington, for one reason or another, so their tables will be filled by the new regime."

"Will you still accept reservations from former Nixon people who have not been sent away?"

"Of course. They may have to wait until the present White House staff is fed, but as long as I am maitre d' anyone who worked in the White House and can still afford it will be welcome. I still have customers from the Kennedy and Johnson administrations and, although they no longer have decision-making powers, they get the same food as everybody else."

"One last question. Some of the plotting of Watergate and the coverup took place at the Sans Souci. Did the FBI ever question you about what you knew?"

"Yes, but I couldn't give them much help. Every time they asked me about someone I always replied 'That wasn't my table.'"

Sedalia has an unusually large number of electric refrigerators but not enough to keep down a real ice shortage for this city for persons who still have ice boxes or rely on ice refrigeration. Since Saturday the ice plants have been rationing ice out at 50 pounds to the family . . .

Traveling cabana

Bathing machines were used in the 18th and 19th centuries in England and France. The horse-drawn box on wheels was a bathhouse for changing and was then driven into the water, away from the beach. Bathers stepped down or were lowered into the water. When they wished to return to the beach, they signalled with flags for the vehicle to "pick them up."

Ab, victory

"The Victory Symphony," was a nickname for Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, was coined during World War II because its opening theme of the first movement became associated with the Morse Code signal for V (. . . —).

Tasty poison

Though the tomato originated in America, it was not used as food in the New World until long after Europeans had been eating it. Until the mid-19th century, Americans believed the plant was poisonous and grew it only for ornamentation. The mistaken belief probably arose because the tomato belongs to the sometimes deadly nightshade family of plants.

Some Things Still Grow

Merry-go-round

Klassen oblivious to many critics

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The clamor last week for Richard Nixon to evacuate the White House was accompanied by a more modest demand that Ted Klassen leave the Postal Service.

Several Postal Union officials, having read our exposés of the postmaster general, have called for his resignation. They have now been joined, significantly, by Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., a powerful member of the House Post Office Committee.

In response to all this pressure, Klassen decided to give himself a raise. He cajoled the Board of Governors into sweetening his expense allowance and guaranteeing him a $15,000 annual retirement if he should choose to step down.

Earlier this year, after we started writing about his mismanagement, he wangled a job security clause in his new contract. The Board of Governors amazingly agreed to pay him a full $60,000 a year salary for the rest of his life if he should be fired.

In other words, the taxpayers will be stuck with paying Klassen no matter what he does — $60,000 a year if he hangs on, $60,000 a year if he is fired or $15,000 a year if he resigns.

Meanwhile, the FBI is investigating our charges against Klassen, with particular attention to our report that he received a $22,917 fee from a postal contractor.

As long as he holds out in his postal penthouse above Washington's fashionable new L'Enfant Plaza, however, he is continuing unabashed to live in the high style we have described in previous columns.

His latest extravagance is a carpeted and paneled stairwell for his rare walks between the 10th and 11th floors. He usually travels the distance in the fanciest executive elevator in town, which lifts him grandly from his reception room up to his penthouse.

There have been occasions, however, when he has been obliged to use the back stairs. Not one to trod on ordinary, barren steps, he has now installed plush carpeting, aluminum paneling and globe wall lights in the stairwell between the two floors.

We have already reported that the postmaster general spent $302,200 to furnish his 10th-floor suite and an even more staggering $528,360 to outfit the penthouse for the Board of Governors. Since they rarely use it, he has simply added it to his lavish domain.

Visitors enter Klassen's office through two sets of walnut doors, one emblazoned with the Postal Office seal. Total cost: $3,671. The receptionist's desk cost $1,576, and Klassen's personal secretary sits a cheaper, $1,014 model.

His own desk, for traditional reasons, was hauled in from his former headquarters. But he has a convertible couch costing $1,143, seven chairs totalling $5,748, a $1,141 conference table and a $194.50 telephone table. His carpet cost the taxpayers $11,666, and the draperies came to $5,999. Not far away is a pantry, which cost the taxpayers another $5,280.

Upstairs, the food from the pantry can be prepared in a fabulous, $50,000 kitchen, which we mentioned in an earlier article. Despite our stories about his extravagance, he treated himself to some new dinnerware on May 15. He selected $6,147.25 worth of china, crystal, hollow ware and flatware.

He ordered nothing but the best, of course. He bought a tea cup and saucer set for $13.50 each, cream pitchers that cost $59.70 apiece and sugar bowls that ran up to $53.23 apiece. He paid an incredible $229.52 for two water pitchers.

The other offices in the postmaster general's complex are equipped with four settees totalling $3,297, two sofas costing $3,349. Eight conference tables running $11,660 and 20 chairs for the tables costing $9,642. There is also a $1,835 drum table, two credenzas worth $2,644 and 14 lounge chairs costing $5,559. Above it all hangs at $3,718 chandelier.

There is no chandelier in the bathroom. But it contains an impressive, $800 marble countertop.

The L'Enfant Plaza Building, which houses postal brass, was purchased for $30 million. It has cost the taxpayers another $8 million to bring the new postal headquarters up to Klassen's standards.

Since the building was purchased "as is," all repairs must be paid by the Postal Service. Already, $357,500 has been laid out for additional architectural and engineering work. Now a leaky garage is going to cost another $150,000 to repair.

The mails may be moving slower and postal workers are having difficulty keeping up with the cost of living. But Ted Klassen has it made.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Father John

McLaughlin, the White House speech writer, took to the Voice of America to give his defense of Richard Nixon to lands around the world. The Jesuit priest said that "morally speaking" he was not "offended greatly" by the President's Watergate activities. McLaughlin, who had also put his imprimatur on the President's cursing and obscenities as revealed on the tapes, said "the rawest and most vulgar use of political power I've ever seen is in the ecclesiastical world" . . . B. J. "Joe Tofani, for many years chief of the Army Corps of Engineers policy and analysis division, helped shape water projects worth billions to contractors. Now he has jumped the fence into industry and is working for the Water Resources Congress whose members include many seeking contracts and subcontracts for work originated by Tofani's old office.

Names can cause identity mistake

By CHRIS SILVA
BROOKFIELD, Conn. (AP)
— "Do you, Christopher, take Robert...?"

I shuddered when the minister said that during our marriage ceremony 18 years ago.

Christopher may have been okay as a moniker for Columbus. But I'm female, 5-foot-1, and for over 30 years I've been answering to that male tag. Life has been a succession of miseries.

Even though the women's liberation movement has opened many doors previously closed to us females, I believe sex discrimination has its place when it comes to names.

Ever since I started school I have tried to sneak by with only the nickname Chris, but officials, of course, must have your full name. So I have lived in constant dread of roll calls and introductions.

In high school I was enrolled in a boys' physical education group.

It took some tall talking to get out of that one.

At another point I almost wound up going to a boys' prep school. Seems they wanted me on the swimming team. A modern gal would now use these mistakes to her advantage.

Throughout my schooling, including my college days at Northeastern University, I have always had to engage in long explanations to wriggle out of embarrassing situations that arose from my legal name.

"Your parents were expecting a boy, of course?" people ask after looks of astonishment. I turn my usual deep crimson and may or may not explain that my parents were not expecting a male, but gave me the name Christopher on purpose.

As artists they thought Christopher Hay, my maiden name, would be a good pen name for an artist or writer. Even marriage didn't help. It only changed the maiden name to Silva.

As education writer for WINE radio, my voice behind the mike is strictly female. Listeners would be in shock, despite equal rights, to hear a soprano voice saying "This is Christopher Silva, WINE radio news."

To save our three children embarrassment, the name Chris has been used frequently. And their names were chosen with care, the boys Mark and Eric, and our daughter Lynne Anne. I didn't want them to suffer as I did from a name problem.

For positive identification of my gender I have to carry my driver's license and birth certificate at all times. Both state that I am female.

When I cash a check I always have to go to the same bank because they know I'm not trying to pull a fast one by cashing some male's check with a forged endorsement.

I used to get loads of mail addressed to Mr. Hay. The mail order houses and department stores used to haunt me to buy men's socks, shirts, hats and shoes.

One pamphlet exhorted me to join the YMCA, extolling the merits to the young male.

After turning 21 and registering to vote, I was afraid I would be hearing from the Selective Service Board. When I did, it only took one appearance at the local draft board to convince them I was ineligible.

What's what with Social Security?

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My biggest Pet Peeve is with the way Social Security is set up. Both my husband and I worked full time until 65 and paid almost the full amount most of the time. Yet, as a wife, I can receive either the Social Security for which I paid or as a wife or widow only the one I choose of the two, which probably will be the one that is greatest. This is also for the husband if the wife dies first. I do not think this is fair as both my husband and I paid into the fund and yet the remaining one gets the benefit of only one contribution.

There should be some allowance for this double payment. No other insurance demands two premiums with only one benefit. This facet of Social Security must have been planned by rich men or some college professors out of touch with a realistic world. This letter is long but so is my Pet Peeve and strong, too. — MRS. PET PEEVE HERSELF.

DEAR POLLY — Lucille should put her shedding angora and rabbit's hair sweater in a lightweight plastic sweater bag and pop it in the bottom of the refrigerator. No fuss, no muss and good luck to her.

I remove glue left from those picture hangers with lighter fluid. It takes spots off of painted walls when carefully applied with a clean natural sponge. — E.C.Q.

DEAR POLLY — When making my own body shirts I use fast tape on the crotches that close. This is the tape such as we put on wrap-around skirts, slips and hair protectors to wear at night. This is easier to fasten than the snaps usually found on readymade body shirts. — L.T.

DEAR POLLY — After one has her first baby most of us hate to throw away the cute baby cards we have received. I bought a large inexpensive picture frame and painted it white. White construction paper was used for the background mat. Then I mounted about a dozen of the cards on it and an unusual "picture" was all ready to fill a bare spot on the wall in baby's room where it has become a conversation piece. I have since used other greeting cards on it in frames for other places and thought some of the readers might like to try this, too. — MRS. R.H.

Nolan Ryan matches KO mark

ANAHEIM (AP) — On Sept. 15, 1969, Nolan Ryan, a New York Mets pitcher, watched Steve Carlton, then of the St. Louis Cardinals, establish a major league record by striking out 19 New York Mets.

On April 22, 1970, Ryan saw Tom Seaver of the Mets equal Carlton's record against the San Diego Padres.

On Monday night at Anaheim Stadium, Ryan watched with something resembling bemusement as he etched his name into baseball's record book with a 19-strikeout performance.

"I guess I'm the only guy in the world to have seen all three of them," Ryan drawled in his Texas twang after his performance defeated the Boston Red Sox 4-2.

"I've always felt that if all the conditions were right and everything fell into place that I might have a chance at the record," he observed matter-of-factly as he gazed into the sea of inquiring reporters after the game.

"I really wasn't thinking much about the record until I noticed something on the scoreboard in the seventh or eighth inning," he said.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit thumped Kansas City 5-1, Oakland edged the New York Yankees 3-2, and Milwaukee beat Texas 5-1.

Ryan threw 170 pitches—115 of them for strikes—as he won his 15th game of the year. He erased the unhappy memory of his last start when he held the Chicago White Sox hitless for 8 1-3 innings before blowing the third no-hitter of his strikeout-studded career and eventually lost the game 2-1.

Sixteen of the strikeouts were swinging.

Although he only tied the major league single-game strikeout record, Ryan did succeed in erasing the hallowed name of Bob Feller from the American League record book. Feller had the old AL mark of 18 strikeouts in a nine-inning game.

Ryan also tied Luis Tiant's major league standard of 32 strikeouts in consecutive games.

Ryan said he still considers his two no-hitters of last season a greater achievement than his 19 strikeouts of Monday night.

Ferguson guides Bills over Chiefs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Joe Ferguson needed only four days practice to deal the Kansas City Chiefs a lot of misery during his 13 minutes, 24 seconds of playing time Monday night.

The veteran Buffalo quarterback, who reported to the Bills Thursday after quitting the National Football League Players Association strike, led his team to two touchdowns and a 35-21 exhibition victory over the Chiefs.

Ferguson appeared on the scene with the second quarter only 1:36 old. The Chiefs had just tied the score 7-7.

Ferguson didn't throw a pass in a nine-play, 67-yard march that ended with Wayne Mosley, a rookie from Alabama A&M, romping four yards for a touchdown.

Only 1:58 remained in the first half when Ferguson, with the score tied 14-14, took to the air for only the second time, hitting Don Dalhoun, Kansas

State rookie, for 15 yards to the Bills' 42. That touched off a 73-yard drive on nine plays. All of the yardage was gained on Ferguson's passes, the payoff pitch a 20-yarder to Gary Hayman.

The Bills never let the Chiefs catch up again even though Ferguson retired at the half and turned the quarterback chase back to rookie Gary Marangi, who started the game and threw a first period TD pass of 20 yards to Michael Cota.

"It was nice to see Joe Ferguson do as well as he did," said Bills Coach Lou Saban, whose team had lost eight exhibition games in succession dating back to the 1972 season.

East takes all-star game 10 to 1

BOONVILLE — Keyed by a third-inning grand slam home run by Tipton's Rex Scott, the East overpowered the West 10-1 in the area Ban Johnson all-star game Monday night here.

A solo home run by Jim Miller, Lexington, in the sixth inning, provided the only run for the West. In securing their victory, the East pounded out a total of 14 hits.

Winning pitcher was Ray Ash, Columbia, with Sedalia's Terry Hudson the loser.

33 Vikings hold out

Vets note unrest in NFL decision

By HOWARD SMITH AP Sports Writer

"It was a long drawn-out strike," said Buffalo guard Reggie McKenzie, "and our side lost."

That was one reaction Monday as National Football League players drifted into training camps across the country under provisions of a 14-day cooling off period decided on by the players association.

Everyone is supposed to report to camp by Wednesday, negotiations with the owners are to resume Thursday and if an agreement isn't reached in two weeks, everyone is supposed to walk out again.

McKenzie wasn't the only one unhappy with the plan which the players say was suggested by chief federal mediator W.J. Usery Jr.

"If I said I was happy about the way we're going in, I'd be lying," said Washington defensive tackle Diron Talbert.

Offensive tackle Dick Himes Green Bay added, "This could be the worst thing that could happen at a time like this. Nothing's settled. This could be ruinous to team unity. We're going in without a contract signed and we're no better off than we were a year ago."

Meanwhile, rookies and free agents continued to display their talents in three Monday night games. The Pittsburgh Steelers bombed the Chicago Bears 50-21, the Cleveland Browns edged the San Francisco 49ers 21-20 and the Buffalo Bills beat the Kansas City Chiefs 35-21.

Some veterans were pleased with the plan to return to action. But the Minnesota Vikings were the most reluctant warriors in the league. About 33 decided to ignore the players association plan and remain on strike for at least another week.

But Adams declined to bar players from the Oilers' camp.

In Monday night's action, Joe Gilliam, in relief of starting quarterback Terry Bradshaw, threw for three touchdowns and ran for a fourth. Chicago gained just five yards on offense in the entire first half. A crowd of 42,325 was on hand in Pittsburgh.

Will Cureton hooked up with Steve Holden on an 80-yard touchdown play in the final seconds and Chris Gartner booted the extra point to give Cleveland the victory before only 24,008 fans in Cleveland. More than 65,000 fans attended last year.

Rookie Gary Marangi threw two touchdown passes and veteran Joe Ferguson threw one in Buffalo's victory. The game was played before 39,248 fans in Kansas City.

Six more vets check into Cardinals' camp

NORMAL, Ill. (AP) — The number of veterans in the St. Louis football Cardinals training camp at Illinois State University campus swelled to 20 Monday night when quarterback Jim Hart and tight end Jackie Smith drove their cars up to the team dormitory.

The two players, the best known of the veterans who have begun training despite the National Football League's players strike, brought to six the number who entered Monday.

Quarterbacks Gary Keithley and Dennis Shaw, and linebackers Jack LeVeck and Terry Miller showed up earlier in the day. Keithley started some games late last season when Hart was injured, and Shaw was acquired this year from the Buffalo Bills in exchange for wide receiver Ahmad Rashad.

Smith, an 11-year veteran, is the NFL's leading tight end, having caught 434 passes for 7,188 yards. Hart was the team's starting quarterback last year.

More veterans were expected in camp today in the light of the agreement reached by striking players and team owners calling for a 14-day "cooling off" period to begin Wednesday.

However Dan Dierdorf, Cardinal player representative said some veterans might be delayed because they can't get the physical examinations necessary.

A team spokesman said he understood that all of the players wished to show up at camp at the same time but that management had not been able to arrange that large a number of examinations.

Nettles nailed

Kansas City Royals' second baseman Cookie Rojas waits for the ball to put the tag on Detroit's Jim Nettles who tries to steal second base in the second inning of Monday night's Royals-Tigers game in Detroit. The throw was in plenty of time to cut down Nettles. Detroit won the game and snapped its brief, three-game losing streak, 5-1. (UPI)

Tigers trip Royals, 5-1

DETROIT (AP) — Ron LeFlore didn't jump up and down, slap his teammates' palms or do any of the other things one might expect of a rookie who just hit his first major league home run.

The Detroit Tiger centerfielder just ran easily around the bases, shook the hand of up-coming batter Gary Sutherland and walked casually to the dug-out.

"I felt real good but I didn't

Two main events will be featured

Two main events have been booked for tonight's professional wrestling show at Convention Hall in Liberty Park. In one of the highlight matches, Mike George will take on Intern No. 2; the other main event pits Intern No. 1 against Omar Atlas.

Karl Krupp and "Bad News" Beach are paired in the semifinal, while Tony Santos and Bill Costello tangle in the 8:30 p.m. opener.

want to show too much excitement because I didn't want it to affect me the rest of the game," the soft-spoken speedster said.

His homer, a two-run shot off Nelson Briles in the third inning, keyed an 11-hit Detroit attack as the Tigers whipped the Kansas City Royals 5-1 Monday night behind the superb five-hit pitching of Mickey Lolich.

The outcome snapped a three-game Detroit losing streak as well as a three-game Kansas City winning skid. It also ruined any incentive Royals' Manager Jack McKeon might have had for celebrating a new two-year contract he was given earlier in the day.

The fifth-place Tigers trail American League East-leader Boston by 8½ games heading into tonight's rematch with K.C., while the Royals—desperately trying to catch up to Oakland—fell to 6½ games out in their second-place spot in the West.

Kansas City pitchers had given up less than three runs a game in the previous nine matches, with the Royals winning eight. And Kansas City had scored nearly eight runs a game averaging nearly 13 hits during that stretch.

But all that didn't seem to affect Lolich and the Tigers.

K.C.'s only run came on Orlando Cepeda's double in the fourth after singles by Cookie Rojas and Hal McRae. Lolich gave up just one hit the rest of the way in putting his record at 13-14.

"It seems like we ran into Lolich two or three times this year when he pitched his best game," McKeon moaned.

Lolich is 3-1 against the Royals this season.

Aurelio Rodriguez opened the Detroit third with a single, moved up on Ed Brinkman's ground out, and scored on a double by Gene Lamont. LeFlore followed with his opposite field homer to the lower deck in rightfield.

An usher threw the ball back as a souvenir for the 22-year-old, who has only been with the team two weeks since coming up from the minors.

Briles, 3-5, gave up another run in the fourth and Lindy McDaniel was nipped for the final tally in the same inning.

Mayberry out at least 7 more days

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The fractured right hand of John Mayberry, Kansas City Royals' first baseman, is going to take at least one week longer to heal than was expected.

Dr. Paul Meyer, team physician, said Monday he had examined the hand and reapplied the splint. Meyer hopes now to remove the splint following a road trip for the team, which ends Aug. 25.

Mayberry will then have been out of action three weeks since the hand was fractured by a pitch in a game last week.

Dorothy Hughes told her husband a few months ago, "John, the only way you'll know if USAC (United States Auto Club) will draw here (Sedalia) is if you've got a clear day and no threat of rain."

Ernie Derr told Hughes that even an idiot could promote a race during a Fair date.

Hughes keeps jokingly telling himself that he'll blow his brains out if the thing doesn't go over.

Hughes, vice president of Professional Auto Racing Promotions of Missouri, Inc., and his long-time friend and business partner Bill Austin, president of the group, have finally gotten their chance to see if USAC will really sell here.

It took three losers (dollar-wise) to convince the Missouri State Fair administration that PARPMI was set on getting a shot at the Fair's auto racing contract. The administration listened and eventually decided to give them a try.

Needless to say, the talent is coming, the only two unanswered questions are: Are the fans coming and is it going to rain. As for the fans, ticket sales are at an all-time high, both number-wise and money-wise. As for the weather, well no one really can answer that question.

Names like Andretti, Unser, Dallenbach, Vukovich, Opperman and Weld are easier to sell than the entry list of the past promoter — National Speedways of Florida, Inc. Obviously, the bigger the names, the bigger the price tag — not so much for the fans, but mainly from the promoters' standpoint.

Saturday's USAC championship dirt car race is shaping up as one of the biggest events of the entire State Fair. Advance tickets for opening day are at an all-time high.

As for the race itself, well a lot of publications are hinting that Al Unser and Mario Andretti are staging simply another two-man battle for the championship again this year. From early indications (July 4 at Syracuse, N.Y., where Viceroy teammates Unser and Andretti ran one-two), that may well be the case. The "USAC News," published twice monthly by the United States Auto Club, termed this weekend's doubleheader at Sedalia (Saturday) and Springfield, Ill. (Sunday) questionably an Unser-Andretti benefit. That question, along with the questions of fan acceptance and weather will be answered by this time next week.

USAC has two appearances scheduled at the State Fair. In addition to Saturday's $25,000 dirt championship program, the USAC stock cars top the second weekend of racing, Aug. 24.

Other events on PARPMI's six-race, five-day schedule include the ARCA (Automobile Racing Club of America) stock cars Aug. 18; the Missouri super-modified championships, under the lights Saturday night; the early model stock car championships, Aug. 23; and a double-50 for the sprints and stock cars, Aug. 25.

If the USAC shows go over big (the promoters are looking for SRO crowds), USAC may find a home in Sedalia in its schedules in coming years.

And from the late news department, it took "Kitti" Carver, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Carver of 914 East 11th, nearly an hour to land a 24 and one-half pound spoonbill on the Osage Arm of the Lake of the Ozarks.

Miss Carver was fishing with eight-pound test line and a dough ball off a dock owned by Roy Eding, 2306 Dennis Road, Aug. 2, when the fish struck the bait. Miss Carver and her father got into a boat waited the fish out until it got tired. In doing so, the two got a free ride while the fish tried to get away.

Miss Carver eventually won the battle.

Cards hang on to slim NL East lead

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals continue to lead baseball's snug National League East by about the length of Danny Godby's bat.

And the crack of the longtime minor league outfielder's tool in trade may have accounted Monday night for more than a 6-5 victory over the San Diego Padres.

"Little things are what win ball games and pennants," observed Cards captain Joe Torre after Godby singled and scored in the 13th to end a marathon of 4 hours and 3 minutes.

But more impressed and pleased still was Manager Red Schoendienst, who noted, "Godby won the ball game with his baserunning."

The 27-year-old Godby, a farmhand at Tulsa until last week, got his chance because the Cards had otherwise exhausted their supply of pinch-hitters against Bill Laxton, 0-1.

Striding to the plate for a first time in the majors, he drilled a Laxton fast ball up the middle leading off.

Jack Heidemann laid down a sacrifice to move Godby to second, then came the move that both Schoendienst and Torre praised.

Godby, instead of holding, broke fast and was half way to third when Padres shortstop Enzo Hernandez fielded Lou Brock's slow infield hit.

The advance prompted the Padres to walk Ted Sizemore a fifth time, and Bake McBride followed with a long sacrifice fly to center field.

"When he saw the ball come off the bat he realized he could make it," said Torre, who called Godby's dash to third instinctive.

"I had a pretty good jump," Godby explained. "If the ball had been hit hard, though, I was going to stay on second."

The auspicious debut was particularly heartening to Godby, whose run kept the Cardinals 1½ games ahead of the Philadelphia Phillies in the East Division.

"I'd been kicking around the minors so long I wondered if I'd ever get up here," he conceded. "I don't think anyone can realize how good that hit felt."

The Cards' winner in relief was left-hander Al Hrabosky, 6-1, who pitched 4 1-3 hitless innings to outdistance the Padres' Laxton and starter Bill Greif.

"We got outstanding pitching," remarked San Diego Manager John McNamara. "It's just a shame we had to waste it on a night when we couldn't score more runs."

'Dry run' for Hank Aaron

Baseball Hall has six new members

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Six persons were honored here in the Hall of Fame ceremonies, including New York Yankee greats Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford. The six entered the shrine in commemoration of their baseball achievements.

Another special person was here as a dry run for the day when he will be honored.

Actually, Hank Aaron could have used the day off. "The legs are a little sore. I wobble a little these days," he said. But Aaron's popularity forced an appearance as his Atlanta Braves drubbed the Chicago White Sox 12-9 Monday in the 32nd Hall of Fame Game.

So while the Yankee stars joined former umpire Jocko Conlan and Negro League star "Cool Papa" Bell at the ceremonies, Aaron did a little sightseeing at the museum where he will be a fixture when his playing days are over.

"It's a touching thing to see this place," said the all-time home run king who broke Babe Ruth's record in April. "Ten years ago, I wouldn't have thought much about coming here, but as you get to the end of your career, you really want to be a part of this."

There was a time when Aaron was reluctant to have anything to do with the museum, where 119 players are immortalized. The trouble came as he approached Ruth's record but hardly could find mention of his exploits in the Hall of Fame's souvenir book.

"There was an oversight. They said they don't usually put mementos in the book while the player is still active," Aaron said. "But I saw Willie Mays' bat, Don Drysdale's glove and I couldn't figure out why none of my stuff was in there."

But Aaron will not have to wait as long to be immortalized as did "Sunny Jim" Bottomley and Sam Thompson. Monday's two other inductees did not live to see their greatest achievement.

Aaron will be eligible for the Hall five years from the end of this season, when he will retire as an active player. Yet it's possible the committee might waive the by-law to grant him the honor before that time is up.

If they do, though, they might have to wait for the bat and ball that climaxed the chase after a once unbreakable record. The bat and ball from home runs 714 and 715 are the property of a major firm under a five-year contract with Aaron.

So apparently, it will be easier to get Aaron into the Hall than the record-breaking hits themselves. Still, he'll be more than proud once his name is called.

"These days kids—black or white—they're looking for a hero," he noted. "I'm just happy I can do something."

If Aaron is admitted before his five years are up he will be the first black player to be so honored. There are only seven Blacks in the Hall now, and the first—Jackie Robinson—was enshrined six years after his career ended.

There is no mention on Robinson's plaque that he was the first black in major league baseball and, further, no mention that he was the first black in the Hall of Fame.

Aaron didn't know that. He was speechless when he found out.

Clay court title to Connors

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A tired but elated Jimmy Connors eased himself into a chair and said, "I won the tournament on clay here and a lot of people feel I can't play on clay—including myself."

But the 21-year-old Wimbledon champion from Belleville, Ill., played well enough Monday night to beat Bjorn Borg, a flashy young Swede with a power game, in the championship match of the U.S. Clay Court tennis tournament.

He won $16,000 by dumping Borg 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

Connors remarked: "I said earlier in the day I might not play tonight because I didn't feel like it. But I'm a strange guy."

"Sometimes you want to find everything wrong and sometimes you want to find nothing wrong. I guess today I was just nervous and wanted to find things wrong, but I didn't let it bother me when I went out to play."

He added, "I just went out there with confidence and patience. I was prepared to go four hours if necessary."

One of the chapters in the Morehead-Frey book discusses the general folly of bidding your partner's cards for him. This hand is given as a proper example of when to bid for your partner. The reason is that while he probably has little or nothing in the way of strength, his cards—such as they are—will help you.

If West had opened ace and one spade he would have beaten the hand, but he did open the king of clubs. South ruffed, led a diamond to dummy's queen; a second diamond back to his ace, ruffed his last small diamond and played a trump.

West took his ace and led his last diamond. East ruffed and the contract had flown away.

Once dummy had been able to ruff that low diamond, South had a sure thing playing starting him right in the face. All he had to do was to ruff a second club in his hand, ruff his king of diamonds with dummy's last trump, show the opponents his hand and claim his contract. He would have six tricks in and four sure trump tricks to come.

History of school is related

"There is much more than meets the eye at Sacred Heart School," G. William Lehman, principal of the school, told members of the Sedalia Rotary Club at noon Monday at Ramada Inn. He related historically the founding of the first Catholic church in Sedalia and the establishment of the Catholic grade and high schools here which followed.

He traced the progress made from the 1862 beginning when St. Vincent's parish was established, to the grade school founded in 1882 when about 35 German families formed the Sacred Heart parish. As the school grew, he said, a decision was reached in 1893 that all Catholic families living west of Ohio Ave. were a part of that parish.

He recalled that Sacred Heart Church was built in 1893 and the present grade school building was constructed in 1907. In 1941 the parishioners found a need for a high school and established it that year in the Sacred Heart grade school building. A gymnasium was built in 1948, additional classrooms in 1956, and the gym was enlarged to accommodate larger crowds for games and activities in 1972, Lehman reported.

The building and maintenance of the school has been entirely a local affair and underwritten by members of the parish through their weekly contributions to the church. After 92 years, Lehman stated, the school is still going strong and is the only 12 year institution of its kind left in western Missouri. There are 400 students enrolled in all 12 grades and the cost of the teaching staff and operation is $180,000 annually.

The school is accredited through the University of Missouri. Lehman stressed that Sacred Heart was not in competition with the public school system. The school provides a moral framework around education and teaches personal responsibility to its pupils. The private school has an opportunity to try out innovative programs and, because it is small, to teach individualization and personalization.

The speaker was introduced by program chairman Robert Hoskins.

William Hopkins, club president, called on Donald Barnes to induct three new club members: William Gogarty, a civil engineer, who Hopkins appointed to the Rotary project committee; Joe Ryan, manager of Sherwin-Williams Paint Store, who was appointed to the occupational services and attendance committees; and Garland Kem Keithley, new principal of Smith-Cotton High School, and a member of the Lamar, Mo., Rotary Club before coming to Sedalia, who was appointed to the student guest and Gear publication committees. Mrs. Ryan and Mrs. Keithley were guests of the club and were seated with their husbands at the head table.

Jerry Arnett, publicity representative of Professional Auto Racing Promotions of Missouri, Inc., spoke briefly on the auto racing program spanning five days and six events to be held at the Fair this year. Arnett is also managing editor of the Marshall Democrat News.

Guests presented by Gerald Cherry were, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Low, from Warrensburg, where Mr. Low is a member of the Rotary Club; Frank Orschell, a Moberly, Mo., Rotarian; Russell Elsberry, a Warrensburg Rotarian; and Cecil Gilmore, guest of Nelson Nix.

duced prospective 1974 corn yields to an estimated 77.8 bushels per acre from the 91.4 farmers harvested last year, says the Agriculture Department.

Based on Ag. 1 indications, that adds up to a corn harvest of less than 4.97 billion bushels this year, 12 per cent below the record 1973 crop and the smallest since 1970.

In all, the Crop Reporting Board said, Monday, total feed grain output this year — including corn, sorghum, oats and barley — will be down 15 per cent from 1973.

Although USDA officials said there is no reason for panic, the reduced crops will put further pressure on food prices by next year. It also means that farmers who need grain for livestock will have to pay more within a few months.

The dry weather, on the heels of too much rain which delayed plantings, has had a dramatic effect on prospective corn yields. Iowa, which averaged 108 bushels an acre last year, is expected to harvest 85 bushels per acre this fall.

The soybean crop, also delayed by spring rains, was estimated at 1.31 billion bushels, down 15 per cent from last year's record and slightly below the minimum projection by USDA three weeks ago.

However, government experts had anticipated a cutback in soybeans — although not by that much — as some farmers shifted from the oilseed crop to grain and cotton.

Wheat production, most of it harvested before the full spread of drought hit later-planted corn, will be up 8 per cent from last year to a record of 1.84 billion bushels. That is far less, however, than the 2.2 billion USDA had optimistically predicted last spring.

Faulty lights are on market

Sedalia's who have purchased household "trouble" or "mechanics" lights in the past year have been advised to quit using the products because of the serious possibility of receiving severe or fatal electric shock.

The warning came from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, who then advised consumers to take suspicious "trouble" lights to their place of purchase to identify the manufacturer.

It was indicated that several of the lights have been sold locally during the past 12 months.

The possibility of shock is created, it was explained, by the light's exceptionally soft and flexible plastic insulating socket cover. Because of this soft cover, persons grasping the light's handle may directly come into contact with the socket metal.

The potentially dangerous "trouble" light bears no brand name, label or other distinguishing marks and is characterized by a light bulb enclosed by a metal case and hinged wire guard with a hook at the top.

Persons seeking further information should call the CPSC toll-free telephone number, 1-800-638-2666.

Department officials say export requirements and domestic needs for grain also have declined, meaning that part of the reduced crop estimate will be softened.

Cotton production will be down this year to 12.8 million bales, the report said, some 2 per cent below 1973 output.

The department's "all crops" production index as of Aug. 1 was 113 per cent of its 1967 base, compared with a record 120 per cent in 1973.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The small British crown colony of Hong Kong is developing into a major market for U.S. farmers and holds promise for further gains in the future, says the Agriculture Department.

In the fiscal year ended June 30, Hong Kong bought $204.6 million worth of U.S. agricultural products, more than double the value in 1972-73, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said Monday.

Over-all, Hong Kong increased its imports of farm commodities last year by one-half, ranking second only to Japan as an Asian market for agricultural products, the agency said in a report.

Cotton, rice and wheat were leading gainers among U.S. commodities sold to Hong Kong.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's hired farm labor force declined slightly last month from a year earlier as the harvest of wheat and other small grains moved rapidly near completion, says the Agriculture Department.

A survey in the week of July 21-27 showed hired workers totaled 1,744,800 compared with 1,793,300 in the same period last year, the department said in a monthly report. Officials said the summer grain harvest, speeded up by hot, dry weather, was well ahead of normal.

Agreement is reached by Bell and CWA

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A tentative agreement between the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and Districts 6 and 12 of the Communications Workers of America was reached Monday according to a company announcement.

Workers in the districts will vote on the pact, and on another agreement worked out on the national level, during balloting later this month.

The three-year agreement covers some 61,000 employees in 900 cities in Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and a portion of Illinois.

A. S. Alston, chairman of the board for the company, said the contract will provide wage and fringe benefit improvements totaling more than $99 a month during the first year.

Details of the agreement were not disclosed.

Highlights of Ford's address

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following are textual highlights of President Ford's address Monday night to a joint session of Congress:

I do not want a honeymoon with you. I want a good marriage.

I want progress and problem solving which requires my best efforts, and also your best efforts.

... I also intend to listen to the people themselves—all the people—as I promised them last Friday. I want to be sure we are all tuned in to the real voice of America.

Now I ask you to join with me in getting this country revved up and moving.

My instinctive judgment is that the State of the Union is excellent. But the state of our economy is not so good.

Just as escalating federal spending has been a prime cause of higher prices over many years, it may take some time to stop inflation.

But we must begin now. For a start, before your Labor Day recess, Congress should reactivate the Cost of Living Council through passage of a clean bill, without reimposing controls, that will let us monitor wages and prices to expose abuses.

My first priority is to work with you to bring inflation under control. Inflation is our domestic public enemy No. 1.

Last week the Congress passed the Elementary and Secondary Education bill and I found it on my desk. I will sign it in a few days. I must be frank. In implementing its provisions I will oppose excessive funding during this inflationary crisis.

Why don't we write a good health bill on the statute books before this Congress adjourns?

Over the past 12 years, in Congress and as vice president, I have fully supported the outstanding foreign policy of President Nixon. This I intend to continue.

Let there be no doubt or misunderstanding anywhere. There are no opportunities to exploit, should anyone so desire. There will be no change of course, no relaxation of vigilance, no abandonment of the helm of our Ship of State as the watch changes. We stand by our commitments and will live up to our responsibilities, in our formal alliances, in our friendship and in our improving relations with any potential adversaries.

—To the Soviet Union, I pledge continuity in our commitment to the course of the past three years.

—To the People's Republic of China, whose legendary hospitality I enjoyed, I pledge continuity in our commitment to the principles of the Shanghai Communiqué.

Former Sedalian visits Santo Domingo

William E. Hurt, a Jefferson City attorney, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hurt, 910 State Fair Blvd., recently returned from a 10-day trip to Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Hurt was a guest of two former students, whom he had instructed during his tenure at Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington. While visiting in Santo Domingo he was the guest of honor at parties held at the Santo Domingo Country Club and was an honored guest at the El Salvador Embassy.

Hurt is presently assistant director of education at the Missouri Bar Association in Jefferson City.

Tourism audit is critical

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Payment of $15,000 by the state Tourism Commission to the Missouri Broadcasters' Association has been termed illegal by state Auditor John D. Ashcroft.

The payments were made in 1971, 1972 and 1973 and totaled $15,035.

Ashcroft's audit, covering July 1, 1970, to June 30, 1973, was released Monday.

The audit reported noted the legislature cannot grant appropriations to any private person, association or corporation.

The money was listed as a "donation," Ashcroft said.

"We receive three times that amount ($5,000 a year) in public service advertising," said Tourism Director James Pasley. The money went toward preparation of public service announcements promoting Missouri tourism, Pasley said.

Pasley did not receive a copy of the auditor's report and obtained his copy from newsmen.

The audit report also criticized the practice of prepayments to advertising firms before the advertising took place. Pasley said the practice has been discontinued.

The audit report recommended that no advertising fees be paid until advertising firms show proof of the advertising through copies of publications, tape recordings or films.

Such a prepayment, combined with a double payment on an invoice, resulted in the Ozark Regional Commission owing Missouri over $2,000, the report said. The money was prepaid to expense funds that were not depleted, the report said.

Pasley said the excessive payment was caused in part by a bookkeeping error that has been straightened out. The prepayments have been discontinued, he said.

Also discontinued was the practice of paying Tourism Commission employees in advance for travel expenses when they go to sports shows, Pasley said.

The audit report also recommended the attorney general determine the legality of the Tourism Commission receiving federal funds earmarked for the Bicentennial Commission.

The funds were used to pay the Tourism Commission for providing an additional secretary for the Bicentennial Commission.

The state law authorizing the Bicentennial Commission gives it only one secretary.

An attorney general's opinion a year ago said other agencies could assist the Bicentennial Commission without receiving compensation. A followup letter from the attorney general's office said the Bicentennial Commission could use federal funds in contracting with another agency for manpower.

Most crops behind normal in development

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Drought conditions have most of Missouri's crops behind normal development stages, says the state Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Corn was in poor condition for the week that ended last Saturday with half of the crop in dough stage — 16 points behind the previous five-year average.

Grain sorghum was 50 per cent headed, 14 percentage points behind the five-year average.

Soybeans, in poor to fair condition, advanced 14 percentage points in blooming last week to 54 per cent. However, that was 13 points below the five-year average. Only 27 per cent of the soybeans were setting pods.

Cotton was fair with about 87 per cent setting bolls.

Thirty-four per cent of the third cutting of alfalfa was cut, 15 points behind the five-year average for the date.

The Greenland icecap, a great flat dome crevassed on the edges, covers 700,000 square miles and in places is more than 11,000 feet thick, according to the National Geographic Society.

Ashcroft's report said legislative intent — that of only one secretary for the Bicentennial Commission — was being circumvented.

PASSENGER CAR TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees each of its passenger car tires for a specified number of miles when used on passenger cars or station wagons, except taxis. If your tire does not give you this mileage because of:

- defects in material or workmanship,
- normal road hazard failure,
- premature tread wearout (2/32 inches or less remaining);

Montgomery Ward will:

1. During the first 10% of guaranteed mileage, replace the tire free.
2. During the remaining guaranteed mileage, replace it for a prorata charge based on mileage used.

Nail punctures repaired free during the entire guaranteed mileage.

For guarantee service and adjustments, return tire to any Montgomery Ward branch with the Guarantee Booklet issued at the time of sale.

Charge after first 10% of guaranteed mileage based on selling price in effect at the time of return at branch to which returned, including federal excise tax.

Passenger tires used on taxicabs, and motor vehicles other than passenger cars are guaranteed on the same basis against defects in materials and workmanship only.
